

DISCLOSURE & CORPORATE COMMUNICATIONS POLICY

September 3, 2026

ARTICLE 1

INTRODUCTION

1.1 The board of directors (the “Board”) and the management of Vizsla Silver Corp. and its subsidiaries (the “Company”) are committed to effective communication with its shareholders, market participants, customers, employees, suppliers, financiers, creditors, other stakeholders and the wider community. The Company is committed to keeping stakeholders appropriately informed of its activities and performance.

1.2 The Company will endeavour to make publicly available full information to ensure that trading in its shares takes place in an efficient, competitive and informed market.

PURPOSE

2.1 The purpose of this Disclosure & Corporate Communications Policy (the “Policy”) is to help ensure that the Company meets its obligations under the provisions of securities laws and stock exchange rules by establishing a process for the timely disclosure of all Material Information (as defined herein), ensuring that its directors, officers and other employees understand their obligations to preserve the confidentiality of Undisclosed Material Information (as defined herein). This Policy covers disclosures in documents filed with the securities regulators and written statements made in the Company’s annual and quarterly reports, news releases, letters to shareholders, presentations by senior management and information contained on the Company’s website (the “Website”) and other electronic communications. It extends to oral statements made in meetings and telephone conversations with analysts and investors, interviews with the media as well as speeches, press conferences and conference calls.

RESPONSIBILITY

3.1 The Company has created an operational committee (the “Disclosure Committee”) consisting of the Chief Executive Officer (“CEO”), the Chief Financial Officer (“CFO”), the Chief Operating Officer (“COO”) and the Corporate Secretary (“CS”), together with such other persons as they may delegate from time to time, for the purpose of administering this Policy. The composition of the Disclosure Committee may change from time to time and the Company will advise all persons to whom this Policy applies of any such changes. The Disclosure Committee is responsible for overseeing the Company’s disclosure controls, procedures and practices. Any actions required to be taken may be taken by at least two members of the Committee.

3.2 This Policy has been reviewed and approved by the Board and will be reviewed at least annually, and otherwise as needed, by the Company’s Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee to assess whether it remains current with applicable securities laws, stock exchange requirements and the Company’s disclosure practices. Any amendments to this Policy shall be subject to approval by the Board.

INDIVIDUALS AUTHORIZED TO SPEAK ON BEHALF OF THE COMPANY

4.1 Only the individuals (“Spokespersons”) listed below are authorized to communicate with analysts, the media and investors on behalf of the Company. The list may be changed by the Disclosure Committee from time to time.

Spokespersons

- President & Chief Executive Officer
- Chief Financial Officer
- Chief Operating Officer
- SVP of Business Development and Strategy
- Chair of the Board

4.2 The Chief Executive Officer may, from time to time, delegate others to speak to investors or potential investors on behalf of the Company whether in the course of their normal day-to-day business with the Company, as back-ups or to respond to specific inquiries.

4.3 Any person (the “recipient”), other than the Spokespersons named above, who receives any inquiries or requests for comment from a person (the “inquiring person”) about the affairs of the Company from the media, analysts or other members of the public must (i) promptly notify the CEO of such contact; (ii) advise the inquiring person that he/she (as the recipient) is not authorized to speak on behalf of the Company and will endeavour to connect the inquiring person with a Spokesperson; and (iii) not otherwise engage with, or make any comment to, the inquiring person.

4.4 Any communications by a Spokesperson or such other authorized person to speak on behalf of the Company must be restricted to only cover information, statements and policy positions already publicly disclosed by the Company.

DISCLOSURE OF MATERIAL INFORMATION

5.1 “Material information” consists of both “material facts” and “material changes”. A “material fact” means a fact that significantly affects, or would reasonably be expected to have a significant effect on, the market price or value of the securities of the Company. A “material change” means a change in the business, operations, assets or ownership of the Company that would reasonably be expected to have a significant effect on the market price or value of any of the securities of the Company and includes a decision to implement such a change if such a decision is made by senior management of the Company who believe that confirmation of the decision by the Board is probable. Under U.S. securities laws, Material Information also includes any matters to which there is substantial likelihood that a reasonable investor would consider important in making investment decisions.

5.2 In making materiality judgments, it is necessary to take into account a number of factors that cannot be captured in a simple bright-line standard or test. These include, among other things, the nature of the information itself, the volatility of the Company's securities and prevailing market conditions. The materiality of a particular event or piece of information may vary between companies according to their size, the nature of their operations and many other factors. Under volatile market conditions, apparently insignificant variances between earnings projections and actual results can have a significant impact on share price once released. The Company will monitor and assess the market's reaction to different information that is publicly disclosed to help make materiality judgments in the future. As a guiding principle, if there is any doubt about whether particular information is material or not, the Company should err on the side of materiality and release the information publicly.

5.3 Any person to whom this Policy applies who becomes aware of information that has the possibility of being Material Information must immediately disclose that information to a member of the Disclosure Committee. Schedule "A" attached hereto lists examples of Material Information. That list is not exhaustive, and the Company still needs to exercise its own judgment in making materiality determination.

5.4 Material Information is required to be disclosed promptly except in restricted circumstances where immediate release of the information would be unduly detrimental to the interests of the Company (see Section 10.2 of this Policy.) The Disclosure Committee, in consultation with the Board and others as appropriate, shall determine what is deemed to be Material Information and the appropriate public disclosure. Disclosure must be corrected immediately if the Company subsequently learns that earlier disclosure by the Company contained a material error at the time it was given and must be updated if earlier disclosure has become misleading as a result of intervening events.

5.5 Except where prohibited under applicable securities laws, news releases disclosing Material Information will be transmitted to the NYSE American and the TSX Venture Exchange or Toronto Stock Exchange, as the case may be (the "Exchanges"), relevant regulatory bodies and major news wire services (that provide simultaneous distribution in Canada and the U.S.) in accordance with Section 5.9. Generally, advance notice of a press release announcing Material Information is required to be provided to the Market Surveillance Branch (or similar departments) of the Exchanges. Copies of all press releases should be supplied to the Market Surveillance Branch of the Exchanges and to the relevant securities regulators immediately.

5.6 The Company's news releases should contain enough detail to enable the media and investors to understand the substance and importance of the Material Information that is being disclosed. The guiding principle should be to communicate clearly and accurately the nature of the information, without including unnecessary details, exaggerated reports or editorial commentary designed to colour the investment community's perception of the announcement one way or another.

5.7 All news releases must include the name of an officer or director of the Company who takes responsibility for the announcement, together with the Company's telephone number. It may also include the name and telephone number of additional contact persons. In addition, all news releases containing technical scientific information, as defined in National Instrument 43-101 – Standards of Disclosure for Mineral Projects shall be verified by a Qualified Person, as defined in such National Instrument and whose name shall be included in such news release.

5.8 All news releases must be circulated for review to the Disclosure Committee prior to the issuance of such news release. News releases announcing Material Information will also be circulated to the Board for comments prior to the issuance of such news release.

5.9 News releases announcing Material Information will be disseminated through an approved news wire service that provides simultaneous national (in Canada and the U.S.) distribution to stock exchange members, relevant regulatory bodies and appropriate financial media.

5.10 Except where prohibited under applicable securities laws, all news releases will be posted on the Website promptly after confirmation of dissemination over the news wire. The Website should include a notice that advises the reader that the information posted was accurate at the time of posting but may be superseded by subsequent disclosures.

5.11 All news releases will, as soon as practicable after dissemination, be filed on SEDAR and be furnished to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") under cover of Form 6-K on the SEC's EDGAR database.

ARTICLE 6 ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATION

6.1 The Company shall be permitted to include disclosure on the Website and, subject to approval by a member of the Disclosure Committee, shall be permitted to post disclosure on the Company's LinkedIn, X, YouTube and any other social media accounts (the "Social Media Accounts") but only if such disclosure complies with the following policies regarding Electronic Communications, the general policies regarding disclosure of Material Information set out in this Policy and applicable laws.

6.2 Disclosure on the Website and Social Media Accounts alone does not constitute adequate disclosure of information that is considered Undisclosed Material Information. No disclosure of material information on the Website and Social Media Accounts can occur until after such information is disclosed in a news release disseminated in accordance with Section 5.9 or disclosed with the filing of the equivalent disclosure document on the Company's profile on SEDAR.

6.3 As much as practical, all data posted to the Website and Social Media Accounts shall show the date that such material was posted. Any material changes in information must be updated in a timely manner.

6.4 All documents posted to the Website and Social Media Accounts must be approved by a member of the Disclosure Committee prior to posting and must include the forward-looking statement disclaimers under applicable laws and described in Section 13 of this Policy.

6.5 Links from the Website and Social Media Accounts to a third-party website must be approved by a member of the Disclosure Committee. Any such links will include a notice that advises the reader that he or she is leaving the Website and that the Company is not responsible for the contents of the other site.

6.7 Board Members, Officers, Employees, Consultants and Contractors must not partake in any discussion or post any information relating to the Company or any of its subsidiaries or trading in securities of the Company in internet chat rooms, blogs, newsgroups, bulletin boards, social media or other similar online forums. Board Members, Officers, Employees and Contractors should advise the Disclosure Committee if they are aware of any discussion of information of the Company in a chat room, newsgroup or bulletin board.

6.8 Response to electronic enquiries will be the responsibility of the person or persons within the Company designated by the Disclosure Committee for that purpose. The information contained in any responses to electronic inquiries must be restricted to information, statements and policy positions already disclosed by the Company and therefore already in the public domain.

CONFERENCE CALLS

7.1 A conference call / webcast may be held with members of the investment community to discuss quarterly or annual financial and operating results or major material corporate developments. The Company will announce the date and time of the conference call/webcast in advance on the Website and in a news release containing all relevant details for participating in or listening to the call/webcast as well as a general description of what is to be discussed.

7.2 At the beginning of the call/webcast, a Spokesperson will provide appropriate cautionary language with respect to any forward-looking information and will direct participants to publicly available documents containing the assumptions, sensitivities and a full discussion of the risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from a conclusion, forecast or projection in forward-looking information and of the relevant material factors or assumptions applied in arriving at a conclusion or making a forecast or projection contained in oral forward-looking information.

7.3 After the call/webcast, the CEO and CFO, and other members of management who participated will conduct a debriefing session. If such debriefing identifies any inadvertent selective disclosure of previously Undisclosed Material Information, the Company will promptly disclose such information via news release. Written material made available to participants in the conference call will also be posted on the Website for others to view.

ARTICLE 8

REVIEWING ANALYST DRAFT REPORTS AND MODELS

8.1 It is the Company's policy that upon request it may review draft analyst research reports or financial models solely for factual accuracy based on publicly disclosed information. The Company will not confirm, or attempt to influence, an analyst's opinions or conclusions.

8.2 Analyst reports are proprietary products of the analysts' firms. Re-circulating a report by an analyst may be viewed as an endorsement by the Company of the report. For these reasons, the Company will not provide analyst reports through any means to persons outside of the Company, including posting such information on the Website. The Company may post on the Website a complete list, regardless of the recommendation, of all the investment firms and analysts of which it is aware who provide research coverage on the Company.

RUMOURS

9.1 The Company shall not comment, affirmatively or negatively, on rumours, including rumours on the Internet. Spokespersons will respond consistently to those rumours, saying "It is our policy not to comment on market rumours or speculation." If an Exchange or a securities regulatory authority request that the Company make a statement in response to a market rumour, the Disclosure Committee will consider the matter and make a recommendation to the CEO as to the nature and context of any response.

CONFIDENTIALITY OF UNDISCLOSED MATERIAL INFORMATION

10.1 "Undisclosed Material Information" of the Company is the Material Information about the Company, including all financial information, that has not been "Generally Disclosed": that is, disseminated to the public by way of a news release.

10.2 Where the immediate disclosure of Material Information concerning the business and affairs of the Company would be unduly detrimental to the interests of the Company, its disclosure may be delayed and kept confidential temporarily in accordance with applicable securities laws of Canada and the U.S. and applicable rules of the Exchanges (e.g., in some cases, immediate disclosure may be required by an Exchange in the event of unusual market activity or rumours). Keeping information confidential can only be justified where the potential harm to the Company or to investors caused by immediate disclosure may reasonably be considered to outweigh the undesirable consequences of delaying disclosure.

Examples of circumstances in which disclosure might be unduly detrimental to the interests of the Company include:

- Where the release of information would prejudice the ability of the Company to pursue specific and limited objectives or to complete a transaction or series of transactions that are underway.
- Where the disclosure of the information would provide competitors with confidential corporate information.
- Where the disclosure of information concerning the status of ongoing negotiations would prejudice the successful completion of those negotiations.
- Where the disclosure of information includes the names of, or reference to, partners who have not yet exercised their contractual right to comment on such disclosure and their comment may benefit the disclosure by improving its clarity or accuracy.

10.3 All decisions to keep Material Information confidential must be referred by management and made by the Board. In certain circumstances, the existence of Undisclosed Material Information may require special regulatory filings. Accordingly, when in doubt legal counsel's advice must be sought.

10.4 Any person to whom this Policy applies and who has knowledge of Undisclosed Material Information must treat the Material Information as confidential until the Material Information has been Generally Disclosed.

10.5 Undisclosed Material Information shall not be disclosed to anyone except in the necessary course of business. For greater certainty, disclosing Undisclosed Material Information to persons providing advisory services to the Company in connection with, or participating with, the Company in a transaction shall be considered in the necessary course of business. If Undisclosed Material Information has been disclosed in the necessary course of business, anyone so informed must clearly understand that it is to be kept confidential, and, in appropriate circumstances, execute a confidentiality agreement. Schedule "B" attached hereto lists circumstances where securities regulators indicate disclosure may be in the necessary course of business. When in doubt, all persons to whom this Policy applies must consult with a member of the Disclosure Committee to determine whether disclosure in a particular circumstance is in the necessary course of business. For greater certainty, disclosure to analysts, institutional investors, other market professionals and members of the press and other media will not be considered to be in the necessary course of business. "Tipping", which refers to the disclosure of Undisclosed Material Information to third parties outside the necessary course of business, is prohibited.

10.6 In order to prevent the misuse of inadvertent disclosure of Undisclosed Material Information, the procedures set forth below should be observed at all times:

- Documents and files containing confidential information should be kept in a safe place to which access is restricted to individuals who “need to know” that information in the necessary course of business and code names or passwords should be used if necessary;
- Electronic files stored on computers or other devices should be secure to the extent reasonably practicable, including through the use of passwords, automatic sleep/hibernation/shutdowns, security software and other means to prevent breaches of confidentiality, theft or spying;
- Confidential matters should not be discussed in places or in manners where the discussion may be overheard;
- Avoid reading of confidential documents on smart phones, tablets, laptops or other personal digital assistant devices in public places;
- Accompanying visitors and ensuring that they are not left alone in offices containing confidential information;
- Maintaining confidentiality of information inside the office as well as outside of the office;
- Transmission of documents containing Undisclosed Material Information by electronic means will be made only where it is reasonable to believe that the transmission can be made and received under secure conditions such as a dedicated server; and
- Unnecessary copying of documents containing Undisclosed Material Information must be avoided and extra copies of documents must be promptly removed from meeting rooms and work areas at the conclusion of the meeting and must be destroyed if no longer required.

10.7 In the event that: (a) confidential information is divulged in any manner (other than in the necessary course of business or in respect of a confidential filing with an Exchange or securities regulatory authorities); or (b) rumours that are correct in whole or in part respecting confidential information are circulated; the Company is required to make an immediate announcement on the matter. The Exchanges must be notified of the announcement in advance in the usual manner. This includes contacting the applicable Exchange and may require requesting that trading be halted pending the issuance of a news release. Where a rumour is circulated that is incorrect, the Company must notify the applicable Exchange upon becoming aware of the rumour, and the Company will, at the request of the Exchange, make a public, clarifying statement regarding the rumour if market activity indicates that trading is being influenced by the rumour.

QUIET PERIODS

11.1 The Disclosure Committee, in consultation with the Board and others as appropriate, may determine that it is appropriate for the Company to observe “Quiet Periods”, during which time comments with respect to the Company’s current operations or expected results will not be provided to analysts, investors or other market professionals. This is in order to avoid the potential for improper selective disclosure. For example, a Quiet Period might run between the end of a drill program and the release of the drill results. The Company need not stop all communications with analysts or investors during the Quiet Period. However, communications should be limited to discussions concerning publicly available or non-material information, and no Undisclosed Material Information, Forward-Looking Information or Earnings Guidance can be provided during the Quiet Period.

11.2 In addition to Quiet Periods observed pursuant to Section 11.1, the Company will observe quarterly Quiet Periods during which no discussion on earnings will take place. Subject to the discretion of the Disclosure Committee, each quarterly Quiet Period will begin two weeks after the end of each quarter and/or year and end once the earnings for that quarter or year have been Generally Disclosed by way of a news release. This Quiet Period does not preclude the Company from responding to inquiries concerning publicly available or non-material information or participating in investor relations activity consistent with customary practice.

11.3 During a Quiet Period, Spokespersons must not provide any future-oriented information about the Company’s business, prospective business, operations or capital, including future-oriented financial information (as that term is defined under applicable securities law) (collectively, “Forward-Looking Information”) which relates to expected revenues, net income or profit, earnings per share, expenditure levels, and other information commonly referred to as earnings guidance (collectively, “Earnings Guidance”) or comments with respect to the financial results for the current fiscal quarter or current fiscal year.

11.4 Notwithstanding the foregoing restrictions, the Company may Generally Disclose Forward-Looking Information during the Quiet Period when the Forward-Looking Information constitutes Undisclosed Material Information. During a Quiet Period, Spokespersons may respond to unsolicited inquiries about information either that is not Material Information or information that has been Generally Disclosed.

11.5 Project oriented Forward-Looking Information that is unaffected by quarterly or annual financial results of the Company, such as, without limitation, scoping studies, pre-feasibility studies and feasibility studies, that are already Generally Disclosed can continue to be disclosed in the normal course of business during the Quiet Period provided that no information, such as without limitation, per share data, is disclosed that would be affected by annual or quarterly results.

AVOIDING SELECTIVE DISCLOSURE

12.1 Undisclosed Material Information is required to be generally disclosed to the public and shall not be separately or selectively disclosed to any person or Company (in an interview with an analyst or in a telephone conversation with an investor or otherwise) prior to it being disclosed generally to the public. However, a Company may selectively disclose Undisclosed Material Information to certain persons prior to general disclosure to the public if (i) such selective disclosure is necessary in the course of business and (ii) such person or Company is bound by an express confidentiality agreement or owes the Company a duty of trust or confidence with respect to such information.

12.2 When participating in shareholder meetings, news conferences, analysts' conferences and private meetings with analysts, Spokespersons must only disclose information that either: (1) is not Material Information; or (2) is Material Information but has previously been Generally Disclosed. For greater certainty, acceptable topics of discussion include the Company's business prospects (subject to the provisions of Section 11 of this Policy), the business environment, management's philosophy and long-term strategy. Any selective disclosure of Undisclosed Material Information, including Earnings Guidance, is not permitted.

12.3 To protect against selective disclosure, the following procedures should be followed:

- (a) Spokespersons who are participating in shareholder meetings, news conferences, analysts' conferences and private meetings with analysts should consider prior to such meeting or conference their proposed comments and should consider their proposed answers to anticipated questions;
- (b) Any Undisclosed Material Information that is contained in the script must be Generally Disclosed before the meeting or conference or deleted from the script if it is premature for the Undisclosed Material Information to be Generally Disclosed; and
- (c) The Disclosure Committee shall meet as circumstances dictate, including to review the Company's disclosure compliance system.

12.4 After each shareholder meeting, news conference, analysts' conference or private meeting with analysts, the Company's participants should normally meet and review the disclosures made during the course of the meeting or conference to determine if any Undisclosed Material Information was unintentionally disclosed. See also Section 8 above.

12.5 If Undisclosed Material Information was disclosed (other than in the necessary course of business or in respect of a confidential filing with an Exchange or securities regulatory authorities), the participants must advise a member of the Disclosure Committee, who shall take immediate steps to ensure that the information is Generally Disclosed in accordance with the requirements of the Exchanges and/or securities regulatory authorities.

12.6 Pending the Material Information being Generally Disclosed, the Company must contact the parties to whom the Material Information was disclosed and inform them: (1) that the information is Undisclosed Material Information; and (2) of their legal obligations with respect to the Material Information.

FORWARD-LOOKING INFORMATION

13.1 The Company may from time to time give Earnings Guidance or any other Forward-Looking Information through voluntary disclosure by way of a news release, provided that the cautionary language described in Section 13.2 accompanies the information.

13.2 If Forward-Looking Information is Generally Disclosed:

- (a) The information must be clearly stated to be forward-looking;
- (b) The factors and assumptions that were used to arrive at the Forward-Looking Information must be clearly described;
- (c) The factors that could cause actual results to differ materially must be clearly stated, and should be presented with a reasonably possible range of outcomes, a sensitivity analysis or other qualitative analysis that will assist in assessing the related risks; and
- (d) The information will be accompanied by a statement that the information is stated as of the current date and subject to change after that date, and the Company disclaims any intention to update or revise this statement of forward-looking information, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, except as required by applicable laws.
